

Series of Online Courses on International Environmental Law

from 15 September to 28 November 2014

The International Law Programme of the United Nations Institute for Training and Research (UNITAR) is pleased to announce its forthcoming Series of Online Courses on International Environmental Law.

International environmental law is a rapidly growing and important area with far ranging implications for sustainable development and for how we deal with global and domestic environmental problems. This Series is aimed at professionals working in the field of environmental protection as well as professionals in other fields who wish to acquire further knowledge on the topic. It is composed of the 4 courses listed below, each of which lasts 2 weeks and is specially designed for participants working on a full-time basis.

Course 1: Introduction to International Environmental Law

15 to 26 September, Course fee: 500 USD, Course Moderator: Prof. Peter H. Sand
